

Confidentiality and Security of Transactions

Guaranteeing your confidentiality is a top priority of ours. The same basic principles governing classical transactions also apply to e-commerce. All information sent by the customer / subscriber to our online store is confidential and we have taken all the necessary measures to use it only to the extent necessary in the context of the services provided.

Some of the measures taken are the following:

1. Only authorized employees have access to your transaction information and only when necessary, e.g. to handle your requests.
2. We do not disclose the details of our clients and their transactions unless we have written authorization from you or this is required by a court order or decision of another public authority.
3. You may request any information which is kept on you as well as request corrections if you can substantiate an error.
4. For your own safety, you should also treat all information provided through the Service as confidential and secret and not make any disclosures to third parties.
